Coming Events ...

This coming Saturday 6 October 2pm – 5pm

Normal Support Group Meeting at College of Nursing, 14 Railway Parade, Burwood

Clinical Psychologist Julie Peterson from “Embracing the Other Half” Psychology Clinic will speak on “Inoculating against Cassandra” ($5.00 non-members; $2.00 members)

Who’s Cassandra ... ?

A tragic character of Greek mythology, Cassandra was admired by the god, Apollo. He mentored her and gave her the gift of prophecy. He was angered because she accepted him as a teacher and not as a lover so he twisted the gift, so that no one would believe her predictions, including the secret of the Trojan horse, even though she was invariably correct (Brewers 1992). The gift became a curse. The Greeks were aware that an individual repeatedly not believed would suffer profound moral distress.

The name Cassandra was chosen to represent the long time family member or partner of someone with Asperger's Syndrome (AS), a high functioning form of autism. As with the Cassandra of Greek myth, these individuals often experience moral distress. They also become pathologized, typically developing reactive depression or the appearance of neurosis, exactly the behavior expected for a normal individual subjected to prolonged moral distress. (Hackett and Henderson 2002)

Co-Dependents Anonymous – 12 Step Programme

In our September ASPIA meeting we were very interested to hear the stories of three women who attend a Co-Dependents Anonymous 12 Step Group. I could not do justice here to what CODA is about, but a key point for me was to think about whether I am "caretaking" the loved ones in my life or "caregiving"? For more information visit the CODA website at www.coda.org or www.codependentsanonymous.org.au or phone (02) 8230 3959
