NEWSLETTER - June 2009

Remembering Christine . . .

ASPIA has been deeply saddened by the passing of one of our dear members Christine on Tuesday 12 May 2009, following a long and distressing illness. Christine began attending support group meetings in February 2006 and we were moved and inspired by her determination to find emotional wholeness again within her personal circumstances. In the latter part of 2007 Christine shared with us that she'd been diagnosed with cancer. Although she fought long and hard, Christine was not able to triumph over this wretched disease.

Apart from a few months when her treatment and discomfort was at its most extreme, Christine continued to attend our meetings even up until April this year. We will miss her gentleness and warmth, but the inspiration her courage has given us will continue.

Our next ASPIA support group meeting will be this coming

Saturday 6 June, 2pm - 5pm

We recognise that this weekend is a public holiday but it's also our 6TH ANNIVERSARY

We want to celebrate with a special afternoon tea.

I'll bring a cake, but if others could bring something to share that would be great.

College of Nursing, 14 Railway Pde, Burwood, 2nd Floor.

$2 Members / $5 Non-Members (covers room hire, etc)

This meeting will be informal with a couple of segments planned, mixing reality and humour. One of our new members has asked if group members can share their own ideas about self-care. We'd also like to have a little tribute to Christine, and to Margaret her carer & friend.

Membership Applications are invited from partners, ex-partners and others who identify as needing support, information and understanding from the non-Asperger perspective. ## Some thoughts ...

I recently read the following comment in some Course notes I was studying:

"Being heard by another person greatly influences the way all of us think about ourselves and organise our lives." I couldn't help but think how true this is for us.

Lately, there has been much trouble and unrest in the online parts of the AS & NT communities. Groups like ours have been accused of stereotyping people with AS, being "hate" groups and "Cassandra Cults". Many incorrect assumptions have been made about what ASPIA is doing.

It is true that our group represents only troubled relationships, and that therefore we are only observing negative examples of AS/NT relationships. What is also true though is that the partners who attend our meetings have been struggling for years with a dynamic in their relationship that they did not understand and did not know how to respond to. The discovery of Asperger's Syndrome seems to have brought the clue that was missing, or removed the cork from the bottle, and many are now finding that they are beginning to be able to emerge from the tangle of confusion that has characterised their marital relationship and family life.

We are not blaming all the relationship problems on the partner who has Asperger's Syndrome. In virtually every case they have not been aware of Asperger's Syndrome either and have struggled with their own confusion. Experience has shown us that once the non-AS partner is believed and validated they are then emotionally able to explore their own issues as well. We believe that awareness begins to make the difference. Then with the right information and support, combined with mutual participation to find solutions, many NT/AS couples can begin their own journey towards a more mutually satisfying level of fulfilment within the relationship. This requires honesty and a desire for growth and change by both partners, not just the non-AS partner.
